

Panda Coupon 2010

Tuesday, 19 January 2010

To tell you the truth, I believe that Panda Security did a very good job this year with their Internet Security 2010. Although the internet security suite does not come with many improvements from last year, but I believe that the security suite is definitely a good security choice.

Real-time virus and malware protection is above average, but their firewall is quite effective and very easy to use. These core functions will help keep your PC safe, but there's still much room for improvement, such as the points listed below:

- # IMPROVED FEATURES Above-average real-time protection
- # Better resource usage
- # Decent firewall

I'm pretty glad to see that Panda has taken their resource usage down quite a bit this year. This version is one of the lowest that I have ever experienced.

The user interface is quite simple though, but could use some re-alignments for easier configuration. The backup function is basic, but effective for majority of home users.

Even with its deficiencies, Panda Internet Security 2010 can still be considered a viable option for some.

Generally, if you are thinking of getting the latest Panda Internet Security 2010, I believe that you should always use the appropriate coupon codes on your purchase. These coupon codes will entitle you for discounts that can amount from 20% to up to 30% on selected products. Of course, I've listed the latest panda coupon 2010 below, and if you want to apply these coupons, kindly click on the links so that the system will automatically apply the coupons on your purchase.

Here are all the latest Panda Security 2010 coupon codes (click to activate the coupons):

Panda Internet Security 2010 - 20% OFF Coupon

Panda Global Protection 2010 - 20% OFF Coupon

Panda Anti-Virus 2010 - 20% OFF Coupon