

LG GD880

Wednesday, 07 April 2010

If you dislike the Apple iPhone or any other smartphones in the market, perhaps you should take a closer look at the LG GD880. In fact, the LG GD880 is a sleek and squarish smartphone, and it even comes with the latest HTML5 browser.

Generally, the LG GD880 comes with a new mobile browser called the Webkit-based Phantom browser. This particular browser lets users to open up to 10 tabs at the same time, which is truly magnificent.

Also, the LG GD880 comes with a 3.2 inch capacitive touchscreen, and there's 5 megapixel camera onboard as well.

Take a look at the LG GD880:

{mosgoogle}