

---

Bing turn-by-turn Navigation for Windows Mobile

Thursday, 13 May 2010

With majority of the smartphones offering GPS guidance to drivers, I believe that Microsoft finds such a niche market to be simply irresistible. In fact, Microsoft has their very own navigational system under Bing, whereby this particular system can offer you a turn-by-turn navigation to drivers.

Generally, the Bing navigation system is available for Windows Mobile operating system, and the system performs on par with majority of the navigation systems in the market. On the other hand, the navigation system also includes some nifty features, whereby you can simply tap on the screen to ask the device to repeat the navigation instructions.

{mosgoogle}