Monday, 07 May 2012

Want to print things in 3D format? &ndash; and I mean 3D objects literally! Well, printing in 3D can be considered as the latest craze recently, whereby specially designed printers enable printers to print any type of 3D objects. Surely, if you are shopping for the right 3D printer, then you should probably take a look at the latest Cubify 3D printer.

The respective 3D printer is the latest innovation by Cubify. As the name implies, the printer is a rather squarish printer, whereby it would print the 3D model on a tray. Also, you can input several colors too, such as blue, green, and red. Of course, 3D printers aren't cheap, whereby you can get the respective printer for $1,299. Also, Cubify will release the printer on May the 25th, but interested buyers can pre-order prior to the launch date.
