

Google AdSense Check Snapshot: Google Paid Me!: JPG BMP GIF

Sunday, 05 August 2007

Finally! Google AdSense paid me after I have placed their advertisement on my site for a while now. Don't mind my picture being displayed there – there are no eyes and eyebrows as I prefer being anonymous :)
{mosgoogle right}

Anyway, it was a roller coaster ride – I did some of the things that Google told not to:

1. I used traffic exchange programs extensively on my site for the first few months to help create traffic – not knowing that Google somehow doesn't allow traffic exchange programs.
2. I clicked on my own ads on the first month. I even tried various ways to scam Google – by using a dial-up modem to get a different IP to click on my ads – proxy servers included.
3. I even used AdSenseEliteTeam as a traffic exchange program and whereby their programs will even help you auto click on your ads for you – so you get free money from them!
4. I put a title that says, 'These links will make you rich!' on top of the AdSense ads.
5. I was thinking of tricking users by using techniques such as placing a download button at the bottom of an AdSense ad. I even thought of creating an image that will mislead clicks on AdSense.

All the evil thoughts coming from an evil mind! Well luckily I stopped all of the above months ago and finally AdSense sent me a check on the 25th July 2007! Having to travel half way across the ocean, the check arrived a week later from the posted date – that's quick!

Although it's not a large sum, just $100.01, I'm happy enough :)

Cheers to Google AdSense!
